ANGLICAN BISHOP FOR THIS DISTRICT HERE FROM ENGLAND

The London (Eng.) "Times" in a long article has the following to say anent the New Bishop of Saskatchewan, under whose jurisdiction the parish of St. Thomas' is placed:—

"The Rev. Dr. G. E. Lloyd, sometime Archdeacon of Sask-Saskatchewan by a Synod held at Prince Albert on Wednesday, Dr. Lloyd has had a varied chewan and Principal of Emmanuel College, was elected Bishop of career. Going out to Canada from England as a young man, he was a student at the University of Toronto when the rebellion of 1885 broke out. Volunteering with the University Company of the North-West Field Force, he ... rounded at the battle of Cut Knife Creek in rescuing three troopers from Indians. For this act of gallantry he was decorated. He also acted as chaplain to the Queen's Own, a ... battalion which gained much prestige in the late war.

In 1890 he was appointed rector of Rothsay (N.B.) and in 1902 he went out again to Saskatchewan as chaplain to a large British ... of some 3,000 people, and Lloydminister, in the centre of this district, was named after him by the settlers. In 1906 he returned to England to appeal for more men and means and took out some 60 young clergy and catechists to form mission on the prairie.

Dr Lloyd is at present Director of the Fellowship of the Maple Leaf Society, the aim of which is to send the best class of teacher possible to Western Canada to mould the nationalities of the West into a nation lay the foundation of a reciprocity of feeling between these people and Great Britian."

In charge of his 37th party of teachers he sailed for Canada on December 27th, and will be consecrated into this see about the middle of March.

From what we learn preparations are under weigh for the curling club's big bonspiel and the annual ball. These annual events are two big drawing cards and are being looked for with great interest.

WHERE CANADA LEADS

Do you know in how many ways and lines Canada leads the world?

Young as Canada relatively is ... the lives of nations, she has won leadership to a remarkable degree. For example, she ranks second among the world's wheat-... countries, and holds the world's record for the per acre ... of wheat and other grains. ... has the world's richest ... cobalt and asbestos deposits, and one of the largest gold ... the Hollinger. She has ... and extensive deep sea fish- ... and pulpwood forests in ...

Canada has in the Ontario Hydro-Electric power transmission line, one of the longest in the world, and, in the Chippawa-Queenstone power canal, one of the greastest engineering works since the Panama Canal.

Canada has the world's largest inland port in the world—in Montreal; the world's highest hydraulic lift lock, at Peterboro; the largest bridge span of its kind, in the Quebec bridge, and the biggest dam in the world—on the St Maurice River.

Third Annual G.W.V.A. Ball Proves To Be Big Success

There have been many occasions when the caption above well described the proceedings, but rarely if ever has it been more fully proved true than on Friday evening last, when "the whole bloomin' mob" from O. C. to "swaddie" celebrated the third annual gathering of this nature.

Owing to the strenuous efforts of the committee appointed for that purpose, the hall had been most beautifully decorated for the occasion, and such legends as "Vimy" Hill 60" Passchendaele" and others served as gentle reminders of the now spectral days of the Great War.

The large crowd were regaled at midnight with a truly sumptuous lunch which was served by the local chapter of the I.O.D.E. (ably assisted by the "K.P." detail) and the delightful strains of pleasing numbers by the orchestra were enjoyed till the early hours, there being no dearth of partners and the floor being practically perfect.

The whole affair was truly a credit to the local branch of the G. W. V. A. and the committees who must have worked like trojans are to be highly complimented upon the success attained. May there be many more such!

UNEMPLOYED MEN IN ALBERTA NOW GIVEN AS 3,181

According to the report issued by J. W. Mitchell, director of the Alberta government employment service, for the week ending last Saturday, there were at the end of that period 3,181 men registered at the various government employment offices in Alberta as unemployed. This is an increase of 270 in the number of men registered as unemployed, as compared with the previous week.

There are more unemployed men in Calgary than in any of the other large centres in the province, according to the report. At the end of last week 1,414 men were registered as unemployed in this city; 957 in Edmonton, 369 in Lethbridge, 130 in Medicine Hat, and 482 in Drumheller.

The Edmonton office made the men were given work through the Edmonton bureau, 137 through the Calgary office, 18 Lethbridge; 12 Medicine Hat and 56 through the Drumheller bureau.

THE MAYFIELD CLUB

The Mayfield district held its concert and Xmas tree on December 22nd, when a delightful little concert preceded the honored entry of the famous Santa Claus. At the close of the distribution of the presents the ladies served supper in the usual Mayfield style, and all were loud in their praises. It was agreed at the annual meeting held on December 28th that the name of the organisation be "The Mayfield Club," and members are reminded of the next meeting on January 11th.

"MR. ICEBERG" HAS AN INTERVIEW WITH MAYOR ANENT 1922

As I entered the office of the Editor (The Star) the other day I got an awful calling down! The boss was in a bad humor and shouted: "Hello there, Mr. Iceberg, get to blazes out of here; go and do something, write something, confound you; what do you think I'm keeping you for eh? Go and write something, anything, but don't come in here again without copy, go and interview the Mayor and hear what he has to say about his great plans for the future."

I thought, why not, I might do worse; so I set out to find him. I found His Worship as busy as a bee, 'Good Day, Your Worship,' I said "I have come to interview you, Sir, about your task for the coming year in office." "Yes, yes" says he, "But I object to being interviewed, do you get me?"

However I ventured a quotation, which once was to be seen on a signboard "What Wainwright is, Chicago was—What Chicago is Wainwright will be!" Very nice, (and no time limit mentioned) His Worship's attention was caught at once—"Well" says he, "you see I would like to make Wainwright a seaport, but, I find we are a little too high up—but, developments, may; wait and see. Just in touch with a bunch of New York Capitalists to develop the new oil strike down the river, capital about five million dollars, and other flotations to follow. You know the G.T.P. have just made the right move at the right time, for I expect a great traffic between the wells and here, (this also of course includes gas) well as a matter of fact, I'm afraid the railways will be insufficient to cater for the enormous local passenger traffic, as a consequence an electric street car service between the well sites and town. Yes, of course all the power will be had from the river and all of Wainwright will be brilliantly lighted; of course I hate to see the city go in opposition to the "Twilight Limited", but you see, everything will be on such an enormous scale, and there will be use for such a small toy plant elsewhere, I mean outside the City Limits.' "Well, says the Mayor, just look at this!" And he shows me a pile of documents—explaining:

Electric power, Water (drinking), Sewer-system, Sanitation, Fire Brigade, Police, Hospital, Schools, Parks." "M" says the Mayor "Its hot is it not?" I could only agree,—"Yes, your worship, it is. Good-day, your worship, Good day Sir."

OFFICIALS OF VICTORIA ARE TOLD AN AMAZING STORY BY VISITOR TO CITY HALL

Victoria, B.C., Dec. 28—Dennis Kelley, claiming to be John the Baptist, resurrected, visited the city hall today and asked for a meal ticket.

"I am being persecuted by secret societies and religous organizations, yet I am saving the British Empire," Kelley told the alderman. He added that he was an expert varnish maker, but he had been hounded out of every city in Canada.

"They treated me brutally in the States," said Kelley.

"President Harding chased me out of the White House.

"I alone know the truth. There has been no one like me before. Therefore there shall be no one like me again."

And the aldermen believed him.

MAKE 1922 A REAL BANNER YEAR FOR WAINWRIGHT DIST.

The year 1921 has drawn to a close. It has been a hard year as finanelal and business worries go, but nevertheless a year in which the country as a whole has kept pretty well to windward. Internationally it was a year marked with big events, the conference now going on at Washington alone being of Stupendous importance. The internecine warfare in Ireland appears to be gathering to an end with another star or two added to the British diadem. The scars following the war are gradually being healed up and the outlook is for peace and prosperity, but the adverse tides would seem as if they had reached their high water mark and with their recession should come seasons filled with plenty. It has been a year of great political upheavals in Canada. The federal government, a government standing unique in the history of the country, went down to defeat with scarcely a tear shed upon its bier. The masses are unrestful, they want to change—it is not evolution any longer; it is revolution no matter from what angle it may be viewed. In this province a government with a very creditable record bent its head beneath the storm and it lies shattered on the sands of the forgotten. Government reports for the year indicate great progress and prosperity throughout the nation and the year drifts out leaving us in far better shape than most countries, although we are loth to believe it. No nation is any more prosperous than its individuals and while we are obsessed with the illusion that we are down trodden and poverty stricken, the records of the country with their unimpeachable evidence stand against us. We are better off than we were a year ago.

Locally we have striven along during the year and have made remarkable progress. The hard times were felt here as elsewhere but we have struggled through and indeed with a considerable measure of success. Our population is steadily increasing, there is more money in circulation and business is on a sound basis. The end is not yet; there are hard moments still to be encountered but we know that our interests are not flinching. There is the spirit abroad that eventually we will come out alright and that is the spirit which will see us through successfully. Times may be hard but why make that your daily bread? Have you nothing else to think about and talk about except hard times—no money; no collections and no work. As a man thinks, so is he. If we could only always look on the bright side of things and there is no cloud without its sivler lining how beautiful and serene our earthly lot would be. As the year 1921 has folded into the realms of the past let us resolve that 1922 shall be a brighter and better year for the town and district of Wainwright. We have room for the achievement of great possibilities; let us work together for the betterment of all concerned; let us put forth a united effort for the welfare of the community in its entirety; give our business avenues wider areas; reach out for the things that are in store for us; forget petty jealousies, ill-feelings and strife, caste or class prejudices, and fight for the common interest and the common good. Let us make 1922 another banner year for Wainwright.

CROSSING THE BAR

ODESSA JANE TORY

The death occured at Autumn Leaf on December 26th, 1921 of Odessa Jane, beloved wife of William J. Tory, age 45 years. The deceased was born in Guysboro Co. Nova Scotia and leaves to mourn her loss, beside her husband and five step-children, an aged mother and two brothers, Silas and Edwin Sangster, of Guysboro, Nova Scotia. She was a long and patient sufferer of diabetes but during the long illness was ever submissive to the Divine Will.

Interment was made on Thursday last at Autumn Leaf Cemetery, Rev. N. Priestley conducting the ceremony.

SOPHIE BAMELIS

There passed away in the General hospital in Edmonton on Friday last, at the age of 67 years Mrs Sophie Bamelis who has been a sufferer from peritonitis. The deceased lady originally came from Belgium, and has been a resident of this district for the past six years. She leaves to mourn their loss, her husband and two sons and a daughter, as well as a host of friends all over the neighborhood. The funeral was held at Wainwright cemetery on Tuesday, the arrangements being in the hands of Messrs McLeod.

World Renowned Prelate To Visit Wainwright On Sunday Next

The Ven Archdeacon John McKay, who is probably better known throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion as "Archdeacon John," will visit our town on Sunday next, when he will preach at both services in St. Thomas and in addition address the Sunday school at the close of the morning service.

This renowned prelate is famous for his work among the Indians which has extended for close on sixty years. He is known and beloved by the various tribes and is always a consultee of the government as to any legislation bearing upon the Indians.

Some years ago he spent a time in London while translating into the Cree Language the whole of the New Testament, the first copy of the work being dedicated to the King and Queen Alexandra who both wrote a high appreciation of the Archdeacon's work among "his Indian subjects in North America" — better known as Canada.

His life story quite surpasses the most exciting romance. He has reached the ripe old age of 84 years, and is highly respected for his humility and gentleness of character. His whole life has been one of self-sacrifice, and it is expected that large congregations will turn out to hear the wonderful life story of one whose title of love is most often described by "Archdeacon John."

SPEAKER FOR ALBERTA LEGISLATURE CHOOSEN

Oran Leo McPherson, member for Little Bow, will be the next speaker of the Alberta legislative assembly, which meets on February 2nd, if the house accepts the recommendation of the provincial government in the matter. Premier Greenfield has admitted that the government's selection for speaker was Mr. McPherson, and it is understood that the opinion of the U.F.A. members of the legislature is practically a unit for the choice.

It has been known for some time that there was practically no foundation for the reports that the speakership of the next house would be offered to some member outside the ranks of the Farmer's party, it being held that members in the ranks of the government majority were well qualified to take the office even though none of them have had legislative experience to date.

Australia has raised $50,000,000 for the assistance of her ex-soldiers.

Hold Last Session

The Meighen government held its final meeting on Friday last. Only half a dozen ministers, inclusive of the premier, gathered around the council table for the last time. Those present were Premier Meighen, Sir Henry Drayton, Sir James Lougheed, Hon. G. D. Robertson, Hon. J. A. Stewart and Hon. R. B. Bennett. The meeting lasted for but three-quarters of an hour and was one of the shortest that has been held since the Meighen government took office.

Asked what business had been transacted, Mr Meighen replied that he and his colleagues were engaged in cleaning up routine matters: nothing of special interest had been done, he said. The premier will vacate his office immediately, and the other ministers have also been making preparations to leave.

RED CROSS NOTES

The Whitla unit or the Red Cross has written in to Provincial Headquarters in Calgary to say that they are organized for the distribution of relief in their district. Various organizations in the town are combining their efforts with the Red Cross to this end.

Mrs W. A. Mitchell, Secretary Treasurer of the Trayers Branch of the Red Cross Society has written to Red Cross head-quarters that she received the shipments of underwear, shoes sweaters and knickers which were sent to that point.

R. R. Man Says It Kept Him On The Job—Was Nearly Down And Out

"It's all due to Tanlac that I am able to be on the job today, for I was just about down and out when I began taking it," said Harold Blanchard, a trainman on the Canadian National Railway, residing at 330 Donald St., Winnipeg, Man.

"On returning from France, after three years service over there, I was so run down and weak I could hardly work. My appetite was gone and my stomach in such a bad condition that what little I did eat seemed to do me harm instead of good. After eating I would bloat terribly and my heart would beat like a hammer against my chest. This palpitation was so bad at times I began to think I had something serious the matter with my heart. My kidneys had also bothered me for several years and there was a severe pain in the small of my back.

"My sleep at night did me little good, for I would wake up at all hours and then get up feeling as tired as if I hadn't gone to bed at all. In fact, I felt miserable all the time. One day I happened to hear a man telling how much Tanlac had helped him, so I began taking it and the results have been nothing less than remarkable. To put it all in a nut-shell, I am now as strong and well as I ever was in my life and I consider Tanlac well worth recommending to everybody."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Canada's Needs

No. 1—Population

In this, the first of a series of articles dealing with some of Canada's outstanding needs as it enters the new year, first attention is given to the subject of population, because, after all, the provision of many other needs and the solution of most national problems hinges upon the question of people.

Some people may challenge the statement that population is Canada's most pressing need. Pointing out that there is much unemployment at the present time, some may argue that we already have more people than we can adequately provide for, and that all efforts at immigration should cease. Others may contend that more important than population is the righting of certain social wrongs and the raising of the moral and religious life of the nation.

There is, of course, room for argument, but the writer would submit that before any country can amount to anything, and before there can be increased employment and a high standard in life, there must be an adequate population to make these things possible. Churches, banks, factories, railways, and so forth, do not make a country. It is people who make a nation. Without population any land will remain a wilderness, but with people, and only with, by and through people can a barren land be made anything else but barren.

Along with the New Year, Canada gets a new national administration. Among the big problems which will confront the new Prime Minster, his cabinet and the new Parliament, not one exceeds in magnitude and importance the question of largely augmenting the population of the Dominion by the introduction of the right class of immigrants.

Fortunately, the whole country is beginning to realize this fact, and east and west a growing public demand is being voiced for the adoption of a wise but vigorous and persistent immigration policy. The immigration portfolio in the new Government calls for the biggest, brainiest, most aggressive man that Mackenzie King can call to his cabinet. The task confronting such a minister is a hard one, but the man who tackles it in earnest and keeps at it will not only make a lasting name for himself, but will confer benefits on Canada which cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents alone.

The new Government is pledged to adopt policies and enact laws designed to bring about a return of prosperity to this Dominion, to keep our factories busy and, generally, to provide ample employment for all citizens. The basic stone in the construction of the national edifice of prosperity is population—people settled on fertile vacant lands of Canada, people to work in the development of our vast wealth of raw natural resources, people who will create traffic for our national railways, people who will help to divide the load of taxation and thus make it easier for all.

There are hundreds of thousands of prospective emigrants in the countries of Europe. If number alone was all that counted the task of the new Minister of Immigration would be easy. But while Canada wants quantity, and can absorb tens of thousands of new settlers, they must be of the right type, men and women and children who will prove an asset and not a liability to Canada. Unfits, whether physically, mentally or morally, are not wanted and must be debarred, but the clean, sound, able-bodied should be picked out and encouraged to come, and mere lack of money should not be imposed as a bar to their admittance.

Canada is a land of opportunity. While the days of free homestead lands, which attracted a great influx of settlers in the first decade of the century, are no longer available, there are tens of millions of vacant acres of good agricultural land awaiting settlement. It will be the task of statesmanship and true nation-building to work out a sound policy whereby these lands are made available to settlers on reasonable terms and some assistance given to such settlers to enable them to establish homes with an assurance of success.

The first step towards evolving a practical and successful settlement policy is to discover why it is that so many thousands of people who have come to Canada in the past with the full determination to remain here and make permanent homes for themselves and their children, have, after the lapse of a few years, left the country. There is a weakness, a fault, somewhere. It should be clearly located and steps taken without loss of time to remedy the defect, whatever it may be. That done, then vigorous action should follow to encourage the hardworking, fit people of Europe to come to Canada, establish homes here, assist in the development of our stores of natural wealth, and become good citizens and active participators in the building up of this Dominion.

Hunters and Dogs Attacked By Eagle

Wings Measured More Than Seven Feet From Tip to Tip

Great royal eagles, coming from the Tyrolese Alps, probably owing to lack of food there, have appeared recently in the canton of Grisons and fiercely attacked chamois and also hunters and dogs.

A battle royal between an eagle and a setter dog took place in the mountains above Thusis. Two hunters eventually shot the bird, whose wings measured more than seven feet from tip to tip.

Eagles have killed several chamois, goats and lambs, and carried them off to their nests on the mountain tops.

Should Destroy Submarines

Is a Greater Factor in War Than Capital Ships

Unless the submarine is destroyed "root and branch" an agreement reached for reduction of land armaments and the aircraft problem solved, the Washington conference will have failed to live up to its full duty and privilege," Josephus Daniels, former U.S. secretary of the navy, declared in an address before the Charlotte, N.C., Rotary Club.

The only step made toward armaments reduction, he said, had been in the case of the dreadnaught and during the war, he added, the "dreadnaught, considered the backbone of a nation's fighting strength, was tied up in harbor."

The submarine, Mr. Daniels said, was a greater factor in war than all the capital ships while bombing planes, he predicted, will be the greatest danger in any possible future war.

Poison Gas Perfumes

Poison gas is once more in daily use, this time as a perfume in London drawing-rooms. Chemists have discovered that the gas used in the war will make most wonderful perfumes, and on turning out a large variety of scents. Thus another variant of the old saying concerning the beating of swords into ploughshares, spears into pruning hooks.

According to investigators, women are more honest in the payment of their taxes than are the men.

General Smuts' Advice

Nations Will Prosper If People "Keep Their Heads"

As General Smuts said, our present troubles will leave us stronger later on. It is better to fight through them now, even at some sacrifice, than to put them off and have to deal with bigger ones in the future. Germany is adopting a seemingly easier course. She is producing a temporary and illusory activity by depreciating her currency and trying to live upon paper money. Every imperial expert is convinced that she is merely postponing the evil day, and that a gigantic crash is inevitable. The mirage of inflation never lasts long. Suddenly it vanishes and reveals the desert. "Keep your heads," says General Smuts to bankers and traders and the people generally. It is the only sound and sane thing to do. We cannot change world conditions and make all the nations prosperous in a moment. But we can at least refrain from making our own position worse by needless interruptions of activity and panicky measures.—The Johannesburg Times.

On The Marriage Day

Romance usually ceased, and history begins, and sore corns begin to go when "Putnam's" is applied. It takes out corns, roots, branches, stems—no trace of a single corn left after Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor has done its work. 25c at all dealers. Refuse a substitute.

The Aftermath of War

Nations Have Common Enemy to Fight Against

In a great war the nations involved fight first against one another. But, after the war is over, they all have another war to fight too. In this second war they are all on one side; the enemy is common to all. Whether they now squabble or agree among themselves, whether they keep up their previous groupings, or all fall sourly apart, or all help one another in some sort of tacit consideration, they all must have it out with War herself in her new incarnation as poverty, misery, disappointment and disillusion. France with her shattered Budget, we with our gaunt host of unemployed, Germany with her almost worthless mark, Belgium with her sour racial disunion, are all sustaining, at one or another sector of a common front, the pertinacious attacks of war in her economic aspect, the great impoverisher, discourager, and alleantor.—Manchester Guardian.

A Secret of St. Paul's

Beautiful Dome Not What It Pretends To Be

An interesting secret about the dome of St. Paul's—London's most arresting landmark—has just been disclosed by R. P. Oglesby in a lecture on "Early English Renaissance Architecture." It is he said, a sham—but an adorable sham. In other words, it is not what it pretends to be at all. To quote the lecturer, "Wren said, 'I am going to give you a beautiful dome outside, and an appropriate dome inside, and what they are made of, or how they support my stone lantern and cross weighing 700 tons is my business and nobody else's.'" Neither of the domes, said Mr. Oglesby, in any way supported the lantern.—Overseas Daily Mail.

Cheapest of all Oils.—Considering the qualities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants for sale. So being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

To Toughen Glass

When new glassware is bought, such as drinking glasses, lamp chimneys and so on it should be toughened before it is used. To do this place the articles in a large pan, pack them round with hay or newspaper to prevent breaking, and fill up with cold water, adding a handful of salt. Place pan on the stove and bring water slowly to boiling point. Remove from stove and set aside to cool.

No surgical operation is necessary in removing corns if Holloway's Corn Remover be used.

Grain At Montreal Port

Over 140,000,000 Bushels Received By Boat and Rail

In the total volume of grain into Montreal port from May 1st to December 1st, the rail route exceeded the water route by eleven million bushels in the biggest grain year the port has ever experienced. According to the Montreal Board of Trade 84,559,360 bushels of grain arrived by lake boats as compared with 75,557,069 bushels by rail in the same period. The grand total of grain by boat and rail reached the enormous aggregate of 140,036,445 bushels of all grains, a volume in excess of all other Atlantic ports combined from Halifax to Philadelphia and Newport News, including the port of New York.

Viscount Grey Is Recovering Eyesight

Statesman Able to See Because of New Treatment

Viscount Grey of Fallodon, who suffered at one time from an affliction of the eyes which it was feared would cause total blindness, is to be seen now on any day walking briskly through London streets without wearing spectacles and showing no signs of his old trouble.

Recently the former Foreign Secretary paid a visit to an old brick house in Lower Seymour Street, W., which might be called a house of miracles for here he and many other people suffering from serious ailments have received benefit from a new system of treatment invented by Martin Sherwood.

It is understood that Mr. Sherwood has discovered a method of treatment which has revolutionized former practice and has been efficacious in cases, hitherto considered incurable, of blindness, deafness, paralysis and other complaints.

Mr. Sherwood, who employs electricity in parts of his treatment, is anxious to obtain abundant confirmation of the success of his system before he announces its character, as he is aware that he may be faced with strong criticism from members of the regular medical profession.

Viscount Grey has been receiving treatment from Mr. Sherwood for about six months. While his eyesight has not yet completely recovered, it is probable that eventually it will be quite good, and he will have little difficulty in reading.

Chairman in Parliament Rebuked Irishman In Clever Way

When called to order by the speaker for using the expression "Damned nonsense," Viscount Curzon did not defend himself so ingeniously as an Irish member described in Captain Harry Graham's "Mother of Parliaments." "During one of the interminable sittings of 1877," writes Captain Graham, "when obstruction was at its height, an Irishman, 'weary with watching and warm with whiskey,' called a fellow-member a damned fool. On being ordered to withdraw the expression, he explained that it was only a quotation.

"'Whether the remark of the honorable gentleman can be explained by a quotation or a potation it is equally inadmissible," said the chairman. 'I must ask him in future to mind his p's and q's.'"—London Express

Insurance Policy For Snow Storm

First One Ever Written Was For Photoplay Producer

A $30,000 insurance policy for a snowstorm, was taken out by D. W. Griffith, the producer of "The Birth of a Nation," "Broken Blossoms" and "Way Down East." The snowstorm had to and did appear before November 20. The storm was essential to a new Griffith production and the contracts of several actors who appear in the snowstorm scene expired on the date mentioned. Insurance men say that this is the first time a policy was ever written for a storm, although many have been written against one.

German Defeats

Princess Mary's popular "All British" betrothal recalls how Princess Louise, when she set the happy fashion of marrying a British peer, furnished Sir John Tenniel with the subject of one of his happiest cartoons. The Franco-Prussian War was then in progress, and the French press was full of unfortunately apocryphal "German defeats." Tenniel depicted the smiling young Marquess of Lorne, in full Highland rig, leading off the charming Princess from under the noses of a crowd of scowling German princelings, and wrote beneath "A Real German Defeat."—London Morning Post.

Earns Sixty Dollars a Day

In a round-up of beggars in the theatre district, New York, the police discovered one mendicant who says he has been making $60 a day, five days a week, and going to Atlantic City over the week-ends. Many others boasted of taking from $30 to $40 a day and several had purchased expensive fur coats. The majority of them are able-bodied men.

Minard's Liniment For Distemper

A Dying Island

Scientists Believe Land Soured From Rapid Vegetation

A good sized island in Puget Sound is apparently dying of old age.

It was recently observed, says a correspondent, that every fir and cedar tree on the island was dead. About the water's edge vegetation appeared withered, and a thin vapour hung over the island during the day.

Never inhabited, and about 100 acres in extent, the island has for years been noted for its growths of wonderful trees. Firs three feet in diameter grew so thickly as to make travel through them almost impossible. Both cedar and alder flourished.

The ownership of this tract has been in litigation for some years, and the timber could not be logged.

Now there is not a living thing on the island. Death alone stalks grimly over the trails worn by formed denizens of this forest empire. Not a crow rests on the dead tops, and as boats pass an occasional crash tells of the falling of a great tree.

Scientists who recently visited the island believe the land soured. The growth of the trees and vegetation has been so rapid and dense as to exhaust the humus in the soil.

Another theory is that the soil rests on a rock base, and the rootlets of the plants have come into contact with the brine of Puget Sound to such an extent that the salt has burned out the plant life. The vapour is caused by decaying vegetation.

Birds keep away, as insects are few in dead timber.

WHY BEAUTY FADES

A Condition Due Entirely to Poor, Watery Blood

The girl who returns home from school or from work thoroughly tired out will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale, haggard and angular. She not only tires out easily but suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite. This condition will go from bad to worse if prompt steps are not taken to increase and enrich the blood supply. To make the rich, red blood that brings the glow of health, no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If given a fair trial their use brings rosy cheeks, bright eyes, a good appetite and good spirits. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made thousands of pale, languid girls active and strong. On the first sign of poor, thin blood mothers should insist upon their daughters taking a fair course of these pills. They will not only restore health, but will save further doctor bills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Coal Or Water?

A new French estimate of the world's water power resources credits the United States with 30,000,000 available horsepower; Canada with 25,000,000; Norway with 7,500,000; Sweden with 6,750,000; Austro-Hungary district with 6,750,000; Italy and Spain with about 5,000,000 each; Germany with only 1,500,000; and England with 1,000,000, have a supposed compensating advantage in their supplies of coal.

Mucilage on Postage Stamp

The mucilage on the back of a postage stamp is made from the syrup of sweet potatoes. The liquid is forced through pipes leading to a series of machines consisting of rollers between which sheets of stamps are fed one at a time. The liquid falls in a spray upon the rollers. The sheet with its wet coating of mucilage passes from the rollers into a flue filled with hot air. When it comes out at the other end of the flue the mucilage is dry.

British Columbia Developments

Canadian National Railway Official Speaks Optimistically of Outlook

Osborne Scott, general passenger agent, Canadian National Railways, Vancouver, who was in Winnipeg recently attending a conference of officials of western lines with C. A. Hayes, vice-president in charge of traffic, and H. H. Melanson, passenger traffic manager, Toronto, writes with respect to future business activities.

Speaking of progressive developments in his territory, Mr. Scott was in an entirely optimistic mood. He spoke of steadily increasing land settlement in the valleys and on the plateaux of Central British Columbia traversed by the Grand Trunk Pacific and also in the valleys of the Thompson and lower Fraser Rivers. Considering the land is already under cultivation in the more recently settled sections and production has reached a shipping stage. The fruit output in the southern part of the province is, of course, the outstanding feature of land production. By the introduction of improved varieties and exercising constant vigilance in combating pests, the old prejudices harbored against British Columbia apples have been dissipated and now our apples are being marketed successfully in Great Britain, United States, Japan, New Zealand and Australia, and also in Eastern Canada, which is world famous for the quality of the staple fruit.

The export of pure bred dairy cattle from British Columbia to Antipodean countries and to Japan is another interesting feature of our agricultural progress during the past two years. Fruit shipments were found so satisfactory that large repeat orders are now coming. The dairying industry is also expanding fast, the long season of outdoor grazing being a big advantage.

Lumber is the chief export of the province today, our splendid timber products finding ready markets in all quarters of the globe, but other products, both raw and manufactured, are claiming attention of overseas consumers to such an extent that a company, known as the Canadian Producers Corporation Limited, has been organized with an authorized capital of $1,000,000 for the purpose of purchasing and exporting the output of British Columbia forests fields, fisheries, factories and mines to all parts of the world. This company has trade connections in both the Orient and Occident. In connection with growing export business, Canadians should feel special pride in knowing that the ships of their Merchant Marine are playing a very important part in carrying out goods to the world's markets. The flag of our merchant fleet is now found on the seven seas of the globe, and wherever it goes Canadian trade goes too. With respect to the lumber business, Mr. Scott states that exports this year to August 31st, amounted to 101,604,256 feet.

As all year round resort of tourists, holiday makers and seekers after health, British Columbia is growing in favor, Mr. Scott declares, and community and other organizations are providing facilities for the accommodation and entertainment of the many visitors. Vancouver is providing a new attraction for that city in the way of an immense pavilion for winter salt water bathing and water sports. It will be located on English Bay and the water will be heated to the proper temperature. Visitors from the prairie provinces, whose numbers increase each succeeding season, have their own social organizations and have enjoyable gatherings and recreative amusements.

The Wise Spider

Knows That Wet Weather Makes Ensnaring Threads Useless

The spider is an excellent weather prophet. Henri Fabre, the wonderful old man who found out so many of the secrets of insects and their kin, learned that the threads of the spider's web used for catching its prey are made useless by too much dampness. These threads, so tiny as to be almost invisible, are really hollow tubes filled with sticky fluid which oozes through the walls and chills whatever touches the thread. This fluid readily absorbs the moisture from the air and would soon lose its sticky nature in the rain or ice. So the wise spider, loath to waste precious material, waits until the wet weather is virtually over before weaving the ensnaring threads. How it knows what the weather is to be is still one of the mysteries.

New Government Formally Takes Up Reins Of Power

Ottawa.—After ten years in opposition, a Liberal Government has again taken up the reins of power. Last Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the administration of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen came to a close, and that of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King began. The transfer was accompanied by no pomp or ceremony other than the formal taking of the oath by the new members of the Cabinet.

Shortly before 3 o'clock in the afternoon, His Excellency the Governor-General, attended by his military secretary, his private secretary and aides-de-camp, arrived at his office in the East Block. He was not in uniform. The retiring Prime Minister was in his own office and waited there until the half dozen members of his old Cabinet remaining in town had gathered. Then they all proceeded to the office of the Governor-General and bade him farewell.

Before the ceremony of swearing in the new members took place, Mr. King had an interview with the Governor-General, which occupied about a quarter of an hour. While it was in progress the new cabinet had assembled at the privy council chamber and at about half-past three its members marched in couples down the hall to the Governor-General's room. The leaders of the procession were Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. George P. Graham, and the former was heard to ask the latter where to find His Excellency. "I've forgotten the way," he remarked facetiously.

Hon. Sir Lomer Gouin, Minister of Justice

The process of swearing in the new members of the cabinet occupied about half an hour and was of course, conducted in private. At its conclusion, the members of the new cabinet lined up in the wintry air outside the east block of the Parliament Buildings, and had their photographs taken. Following this they proceeded to the privy council chamber to attend the first cabinet council of the new administration.

A Heavy Sentence

Galician Gets Forty Years for Smashing Windows

Parry Sound, Ont.—Hungry and cold and out of job, Stephen Zowisiuk, a Galician, decided to smash a few windows in order to earn a term in a nice warm jail for the winter. That was the explanation to the court of his assault on store fronts with an iron bar in the early hours of last Wednesday morning when 21 plate glass pane fell before his trusty weapon.

Police Magistrate Geo. Moore sentenced Zowisiuk to four years in the penitentiary on each of ten charges, the sentences to run consecutively, making a total of forty years.

Magistrate Moore said he would make the sentence a stiff one in order to warn other seekers for winter quarters to go easy on the destruction of property.

Gaslight Anniversary

Toronto.—Toronto celebrated an anniversary of importance on December 28. Eighty years ago, the first gas lights were lit in this city. To celebrate the event the Consumers' Gas Company announced a reduction in the price of gas early in the New Year should conditions continue to warrant a cut.

Use Unemployed As Night Guards

Plan Suggested for Philadelphia May Check Thefts

Philadelphia.—A plan to use 4,000 unemployed in the city as night watchmen, their wages to be paid by the contribution of $5 cents weekly by each family in the territory they are to guard, has been suggested to the Unemployment Committee by Major J. Hampton Moore. The plan, it was said, has the endorsement of police department officials.

The watchmen would not be in uniform and this fact, the Major said, would have the effect of decreasing automobile thefts, burglaries and banditry of all sorts.

Seize Liquor Shipment

Toronto.—Magistrate Denison's order for the confiscation of a carload of liquor which had been shipped from Montreal to Toronto as lath, was upheld in a judgment in the first appellate court.

South Cork's Endorsement

Cork.—The Sinn Fein Executive Committee of South Cork, the constituency of Michael Collins, unanimously adopted a resolution approving the Anglo-Irish agreement.

France Remains Firm On Broad Plans For Submarine Building

Washington.—Efforts to limit the naval strength of the powers in submarines and auxiliary warships came to an abrupt end after they had drawn the French and British arms conference delegates into a plain spoken exchange over the possibilities of a future war between France and the British empire.

The French, acting under renewed instructions from their Government, told the conference naval committee, with an air of finality, that France must remain free to build a submarine fleet nearly three times as great as that she now possesses and to construct, in addition, cruisers, destroyers and other auxiliary craft up to a tonnage of 330,000 tons.

To the proposal the Japanese, Italian and United States delegates replied with expressions of surprise and regret, while the British charged openly that such a building programme must be regarded as a menace to British shores. Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour added that he had no doubt, if occasion arose, Great Britain would be equal to it, but only if she reserved complete freedom of action as to the construction of all types of auxiliaries which might be useful against underwater warfare.

Agreeing that further argument would be useless, the committee turned its attention to collateral subjects, including regulations for future use of submarines, proposals for limitation of the size and armament of individual auxiliary vessels and details of the agreement already sealed in principle regarding capital ships.

A Scene of Splendor

Calcutta. — Amid scenes of splendor and the presence of enthusiastic crowds the Prince of Wales opened the Victorian Memorial, dedicated to the Queen-Empress Victoria, whose memory is held in the highest esteem throughout India. The building is in the form of a vast marble palace and is of rare architectural beauty. It required 15 years to erect it. The building comprises a museum, commemorated to India's glory. It contains portraits of the old emperors of Dehli and of famous men who labored for India during the Victorian era. The ceremony was carried out in full state.

Borden Condemns Submarine Warfare

Canada's Voice Against Their Use Is Heard at Washington

Washington.—Canada's voice was heard today. In a speech which was pronounced by members of the British Empire and United States delegations to be "at once forceful and eloquent," Sir Robert Borden uttered the indignant protest of his country against the abuse of the submarine. He spoke in support of the Root resolutions, which, after stating the law of nations upon the subject, declared that the five great governments should pledge themselves not to use a submarine at any time to prey upon commerce or bring about the slaughter of neutrals and non-combatants.

Sir Robert said he could speak with deep feeling on this subject and voice the unanimous opinion of the Canadian people. He told of a ship submarined during the war with twenty Canadian nurses on board. Not only was the ship sunk, but the survivors attempting to escape in lifeboats were ruthlessly attacked. He, therefore, declared that he would not only support the first two articles of the Root resolution, but would go further and support article three, which makes it piracy for any submarine commander to attack neutrals and non-combatants or sink unarmed merchant vessels.

Discuss Farm Problems

Prof. Bracken Also Pays Tribute to Early Investigators of the Country

Winnipeg. — Agricultural experts from many parts of the Dominion and the United States gathered here for the second annual convention of the Western Canadian Society of Agronomy.

Addressing the delegates, Prof. John Bracken, president of the Manitoba Agricultural College, paid a tribute to the men who had led the way in the matter of research and experiment. When the history of agriculture in Western Canada was written, he said, the early investigators in agronomy would be complimented on the standpoint of soil management and crop production. On the other hand, they might be criticized for not having conserved the soil in the way that might be expected, and it was the fact that they had not done so that constituted the problem before agronomists today. Methods had to be devised for solving that problem before it was too late.

Prof. Manley Champlin, of the University of Saskatchewan, read a lengthy paper on "Field Tests with Fallow Substitutes," in which he said the University of Saskatchewan in 1922 would undertake a project to determine the effect of various fallow substitutes in the production of wheat outlined about as follows:

Oats, barley and wheat in double rows, 36 inches apart, and in triple rows, 30 inches apart; corn, potatoes and sunflowers in single rows, 42 inches apart, and sudan grass in double rows, 45 inches apart.

M. J. Tinline, Scott, Sask., gave a paper on "Practical Crop Rotations for the Prairie Farmer." Because of the one-crop system farmers were, as a class, financially embarrassed. Adoption of rotations on the farms would distribute labor more evenly throughout the summer and provide winter employment, he said.

C.P.R. Conductor has Enviable Record

Winnipeg.—William Fogg, senior conductor of the Canadian Pacific Railway, with 43 years' experience as a railroader, 36 of them served as a conductor, has been superannuated. He bears the enviable record of never having lost a passenger.

Mr. Fogg was forced to retire before making his final trip as a result of an accident at Fort William last week. He would have concluded his railroad career December 31.

Sugar Drops In New York

New York.—Raw sugar has plunged to the lowest level in 15 years and within a quarter of a cent of the lowest ever reported. The price for Cuban, cost and freight, was 1 3-4 a pound on Dec. 28.

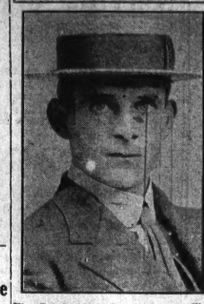

Refined sugar shared the break in raws and was quoted at 4.90 cents a pound for fine granulated. This was the first time in many years that it sold for less than five cents.

Guard Public Morals

Chicago.—The movies jazz dancing and the cigarette, as they affect public morals, were denounced at a recent session of the International Purity Conference.

The New Cabinet

Men of Experience Compose the New Government

Ottawa.—With the exception of Mr. Murdock, all the Liberal ministers have had legislative experience. Five have been in the federal cabinet, three in provincial cabinets and the remainder in parliament. The new cabinet comprises seven lawyers, three journalists, four farmers, one railway man, three manufacturers and one doctor.

Outstanding figures in Mr. King's cabinet include Mr. Fielding, the veteran Nova Scotia statesman, long minister of finance, and now returning to that portfolio; Sir Lomer Gouin, who comes to Ottawa with a long record of efficient administration at Quebec; D. D. McKenzie, veteran leader after Laurier; Ernest Lapointe, brilliant constitutionalist with a genius for public life; Jacques Bureau, with 21 years parliamentary service, and still full of fight; James Robb, an able business man who gets the reward of long service as chief whip; Senator Dandurand, a leading light of the senate; George P. Graham and Charles Murphy, stalwarts of the Laurier regime, and competent administrators; William Kennedy, wealthy oil man of Western Ontario, well equipped to tackle the difficult department of railways; James Murdock, leader of organized labor; T. A. Low, a representative business man of Ontario; Ex-Premier Stewart, outstanding figure in the public life of Alberta; W. R. Motherwell, former member of the Saskatchewan Government; and A. B. Cannibalism In Russia

Russians Eat Dead Bodies in Famine Stricken Areas

Riga.—The first official report of cannibalism in the famine districts of Russia has been made to the all-Russian Soviet congress by Delegate Ovsienko, of Samara, according to a dispatch to the official Rosta News Agency, dated Moscow.

"At Ramikovekay the parish people are eating the bodies of their dead," Ovsienko told the congress.

"It is dangerous to bury the famine victims in the presence of the people and guards must be kept over them until they are in a state that makes eating impossible."

The speaker said that children are being taken to the Steppes and left there to die; that mothers, maddened by their experiences, cut the throats of their babies.

At the beginning of January, continued Ovsienko, the Soviets, with all their outside aid, will be able to feed only half the starving children and only one-twentieth of the adults. The rest of the people would have to die while waiting help.

It pays to patronize home industry. Buy from the merchants in your own town.

The Reparation Question

Hamburg.—The efforts of Germany during 1921 to fulfil her peace obligations have failed, and it is idle to think that any political or economic efforts will now succeed unless these conditions are modified, declared the annual report of the Hamburg chamber of commerce. "Those who still believe the London ultimatum can be carried out," says the report, "either are without judgment or do not desire fulfillment but the destruction of Germany, which in time would react on France, England and America."

Soil Survey Work Is Commended

Use of Public Funds Urged to Give Experiment Results

Winnipeg.—More liberal use of government funds for publication of information and results of experiments was advocated in a resolution unanimously passed at the final session of the Western Canadian Society of Agronomy annual meeting here. The resolution further urged that as the determination of natural resources, more particularly those that are potential in the soil, was of vital importance to the development of the prairie provinces, the gathering commended the several governments for the start made in soil survey in each province and that the work be continued and prosecuted with increasing force until completed.

The society, as an organization, decided not to accept the invitation of the sister society of agronomy across the line to affiliate with it, though no objection was raised to members joining it individually if they so desired.

A special committee appointed to deal with the subject recommended that it would be desirable to conduct further experiments for the purpose of comparing grain in double and triple rows, corn, potatoes and sunflowers in single rows, and Sudan grass in double rows with summerfallows as preparation for wheat. In order to do this, said the resolution, an experiment would be instituted at all stations represented, similar to the project to be started at the University of Saskatchewan in 1922, with variations necessary to meet local conditions.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, G. H. Cutter, Edmonton; vice-president, W. H. Fairfield, Lethbridge; secretary-treasurer R. Hanson, Saskatoon. These, with W. C. McKillican, Brandon, and Manley Champlin, Saskatoon, will be the executive for the year.

Rush For Gold Claims

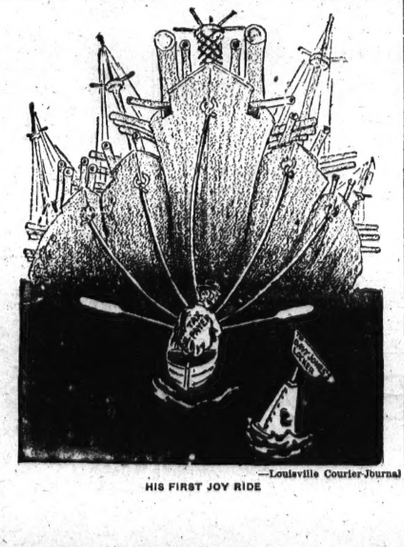

Activity Greatest Since the Opening Up of Northern Manitoba as Mineral Belt

The Pas, Man.—Snow staking of mining claims in the new Elbow Lake gold camp, north of here, is the most active since the opening up of Northern Manitoba as a mineral belt. The action of the Hollinger Mine of Porcupine in taking an option on the Murray Brothers' claims has caused every prospector in the district to head for the new camps.

Sales of claims are numerous, and the price has advanced from $500 to $1,000. One small group of claims, seven miles from the Hollinger properties has been sold by a local man for $5,000 cash, and a banker here was handed $2,700 for one claim and the sale of another for $2,000 quite a distance from the Murray claims. Most of this money comes from Montreal and Toronto interests.

Clyde Business Drops

London.—Clyde shipbuilding returns for this year show that 314 vessels were launched, with an aggregate tonnage of 514,000 tons. This is a big drop from last year's tonnage of 668,000. The largest vessel launched in 1921 was the Windsor Castle, of 19,000 tons.

HIS FIRST JOY RIDE

Upsets Theory That Summers In Canada Are Growing Drier

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture in New Dominion Cabinet.

Toronto.—Many weather idols of the mere layman were smashed when S. C. Lee, of the Manitoba Agricultural College, produced before the science convention a great array of charts which proved beyond all peradventure that there was no foundation for the homesteaders' complaint that the summers were growing drier and drier. Parched crops were merely seasonal phenomena. The figures showed that they were not more common than formerly and also that they did not recur in regular cycles of dry or wet seasons.

The broader aspects of this same question were presented by A. J. Conner, of the Dominion meteorological office, who dilated upon the extent to which rainfall in the west was dependent upon the convergence of air currents from the Arctic, Pacific and Gulf regions which, after sweeping across the continent, usually converged in Manitoba or Eastern Saskatchewan.

When the association convened numerous interesting and highly technical papers were read at the various branches.

According to W. A. Johnston of the Geological Survey, Ottawa, the famous Lake Louise, so well known to tourists of Western Canada, will eventually disappear. Deposits are gradually filling up the lake, but the process of deposition is so slow that it will take a thousand years or more to fill the lake basin.

Addressing the association of official seed analysts, President George H. Clark, Dominion seed commissioner, said:

"Looking into the future, there can be no doubt that the service of seedmen will be needed and, in fact, will become indispensable. Our experience in Canada has been that when a system is provided by which farmers may easily be able to identify seed of the quality they desire, they will pay a fair price for it." He added that it was important that a unified and practical system of seed grading should be adopted throughout North America.

France Wants Strong Fleet

Submarine Is Defended As Essential Weapon of Defence and for Military Purposes Only

Paris.—France's determination to ington conference, were vigorously to the limitation efforts of the Washing ton conference, were vigorously voiced in the Senate during a discussion of the marine section of the government's budget.

Senator de Kerguezec defended the submarine as an essential weapon of defense, but wished it to be confined to military uses instead of being applied to torpedoing commerce. "At the Washington conference," he said, "we were surprised to see the French delegation demand 320,000 tons of capital ships when France does not intend to carry war into foreign waters. France desires no imperialism, but if we found Admiral de Bon's proposal strange, there are, nevertheless, limitations which we cannot accept."

Friendship Increasing Powers On Increase

Crown Prince of Japan is Pleased With Results of Conference

Tokio.—Crown Prince Hirohito, the regent, personally reading the speech from the throne at the opening of the Diet, expressed gratification in noting the increasing friendship of the Japanese Government with the different treaty powers, and that the Washington conference was approaching a successful conclusion.

The regent exhorted the co-operation of the Japanese people in the promotion of national prosperity and of lasting peace in view of the added responsibility of the nation with respect to other nations. The session of the Diet was brief and formal.

May Oppose Harding's Shipping Plan

Washington.—President Harding's shipbuilding plan, though not fully worked out, will be ready to offer to Congress soon after the holidays. It will provide for a heavy expenditure in direct subsidies. Intense opposition to it is already developing in Congress and it is generally regarded as doubtful whether it can be forced through even under administration pressure. Agricultural interests are lining up against it.

Veteran Arrested in Ottawa

Ottawa.—Wm. H. Coulter, the veteran who walked all the way from Vancouver to Ottawa to lay some grievances as to his treatment while overseas before the Government, appeared in police court charged with disorderly conduct on the public streets. Magistrate Askwith permitted him to depart on suspended sentence.

Campaign to Check Reckless Driving

Hamilton, Ont.—That next spring the department of public works would start a campaign to check reckless driving and prevent irresponsible drivers from operating cars throughout the province, was the announcement of Hon. F. C. Biggs, who addressed the Kiwanis Club here.

Famous British Actor Dead

Sir John Hare Was Widely Known to Canadian Playgoers

London.—The death of Sir Hare, noted English actor and ager, is announced here. He w years old.

Sir John Hare was widely kno to Canadian playgoers as one of the eminent figures of the English stage. He appeared in the Dominion on several occasions in a number of plays in his extensive repertoire, notably "Caste" and "The Gay Lord Quex."

Sir John was born at Giggleswick, York, in 1844. His parents wished him to enter the civil service and he was educated with that object in view. The stage appealed to him, however, and he studied for a theatrical career. His first appearance was in Liverpool in September, 1864. His first London appearance was made the following year as a member of the Prince of Wales Company.

Situation In Egypt Improving

London.—Official reports received from Cairo stated that the situation in Lower Egypt was approaching normal, that all officials had returned to their offices and that only the schools remained closed.

There were small disturbances in Alexandria, but Cairo, the canal zone and the hinterland were quiet, indicating, according to official circles here, that the worst of the disturbances have ended.

Weary of Winter, Suspect Surrenders

Winnipeg.—Weary of the vigorous northern climate and expressing a deep longing to be back under southern skies, William B. Shelley, wanted for theft at Oakland, Cal., walked into the police station here and gave himself up. He was remanded for one week in order that the Oakland police may be communicated with.

British Government Has Gone The Limit On Irish Question

London.—A statement from Prime Minister Lloyd George was issued here to the effect that the Government has gone the utmost limit in the Irish agreement and that it was impossible to re-open the discussions.

The delay in ratification in Ireland, the statement said, was holding up the working of the cabinet committee appointed to arrange the evacuation of the British forces in Ireland, settle the terms of the amnesty and transfer executive responsibility to the Irish provisional government.

Following is the text of Lloyd George's statement:

"No British statesmen could go further than we have gone; no British statesmen could consider any proposal involving Ireland being out of the empire.

"The treaty places Ireland on an equality with the other states of the empire and gives Ireland the same claim to membership in the League of Nations and every right that Canada has in law, fact and constitutional practise; and not merely rejection, but alteration even of the treaty would render it null and void. This would indeed be deplorable in the interests of both countries.

"The British Government has gone their utmost limit in the treaty and to re-open the discussion which was closed only after the most exhaustive consideration of every point, would be a fruitless proceeding and is impossible.

All the kiddies in all the schools were bountifully entertained before the "break-up" for the holidays, no less than five heavily-laden Christmas trees being depleted in the interests of the seasonable "giving" spirit. Each high school student made at least one gift which had to be accompanied by a verse of poetry composed by the giver, and many of these were sparkless of wit and rhythm.

PLAN ON WINNING LINES

More and more people are coming to regulate their shopping by the store ads. More and more people are getting out of the habit of going to "the nearest place" or to the place they usually visited for certain purchases. More and more do people understand and believe that when you have a bargain to offer you will advertise it adequately,—and that when you do not advertise at all it is because you have not, at any time, anything to advertise. More and more are people coming to decide things from reading the ads—and depend upon the news and the facts contained in the ads. for guidance in planning purchases. More and more people are coming to understand that only enterprising merchants advertise adequately and informingly—and—more and more—the people are coming to realize that only enterprising merchants deserve and should receive support that patronage otherwise bestowed is likely to encourage non-progressiveness in merchants.

More and more people are coming to discriminate against stores that do not advertise enterprisingly, persistently, aggressively; for they realize that such stores are not up-to-date, are not the sort that will keep Bassano in the van of live places, of awake communities.

More the coming months than ever before will your advertising be the test by which all else shall stand or fall—so plan it liberally, plan it on winning lines.

ADDING VALUE TO THE ANNUAL FAIR

There are in nearly every community in Western Canada scores of farmers who have every year a number of good pure bred sires which they are unable to dispose of. A pure bred boar should be changed nearly every year. A bull or stallion every three or four years. A farmer is forced to continue using the same sire until he can either sell, trade or buy a new one. In Western Canada the average farmer cannot afford to buy and sell at the larger auction sales of purebred sires so must seek a less expensive method of renewing his breeding stock. The private auction sale is of only benefit to the noted or distinguished breeder. The average farmer has not the reputation which will attract many buyers to a private sale should he find it necessary to hold one.

However, every year there is an annual agricultural fair held in practically every district in Western Canada. Could not the various Agricultural Societies render a great service to their communities by concluding the annual fair with an auction sale of live stock? A farmer who has purebred stock, particularly pure bred sires, would be given a practical remedy for the prevailing evil of over-breeding to the same sire. The stock for sale would be shown at the Fair. Prospective buyers would be attracted to the annual fair by this prominent feature. More revenue would come to the Agricultural Societies through fees derived from the animals offered for sale.

The success of an auction sale depends chiefly on the calibre of the stock offered for sale, the number of buyers and their willingness to bid, and the experience and ability of the auctioneer. There is no time in the year that these factors can be brought together in rural districts better than during the annual agricultural fair. If buyers were not plentiful many farmers might be able to trade sires with their neighbors which in the end would be just as good as though they had made a sale. At any rate this subject deserves consideration by our Agricultural Society in making plans for the annual fair to be held in 1922.

THE GETTING OF SUDDEN WEALTH

The past few years, as everybody knows, have been years of sudden wealth to a great many people. Recent news dispatches make it increasingly evident that to a great many their sudden wealth has proved a great misfortune.

As is not surprising, for the more money a man has the more his use of it demands of him character and good sense. And character and sense are qualities in which myriads are deplorably lacking.

Psychologists, in fact, assure us that the great majority of people are mentally immature. That many are also morally undeveloped requires no psycological tests for its demonstration. One has only to observe day-by-day happenings to appreciate that selfishness, self-control are widespread traits.

Let a person possessing these traits become suddenly wealthy—whether through inheritance, shameless profiteering, stock market gambling, ownership of mineral-containing lands, ability as a prizefighter, or success as a "movie" star—and society is likely to witness behavior the reverse of edifying.

If that behavior involves injury to other than the unworthy wealthy themselves, society is more than shocked. Society often is moved to impose severe penalties. It punishes, if only to discourage others from similar behavior.

Nevertheless with a blindness disappointing to all lovers of progress, society persistently fails to supplement its penalizing activity with action looking to a lessening of the conditions making for such malbehavior.

That is to say, society does not insist that the prevailing educational system shall be so improved that men and women in general will become better fitted than at present to meet the test of sudden wealth. It does not insist that the development of character and good sense shall be made a basic in child training as education for efficiency.

And until society does insist on this, it surely is obvious that all the penalizing in the world will not act as a sufficient deterrent. The uncontrolled, given unexpected opportunity for a "fling," will recklessly pursue the satisfactions they imperiously crave.

Whereby, logically speaking, they avenge upon society society's failure to accord to them the control-fostering education they should have received in child hood. And, however necessary it now may be to punish them, society cannot justly affirm making them what they are.

Some days, perhaps, this will be generally recognized and educational efforts amplified and intensified as they ought to be. Until then the old drama, "Ruined by Wealth," will be perpetually re-enacted with varying, but always poignant, scenes and episodes.

But though Miss Maggie did not participate in the gay doings, she heard of them. She heard of them on all sides, except from Mr. Smith—and on all sides she heard of the devotion of Mr. Smith to Miss Mellicent. She concluded that this was the reason why Mr. Smith himself was so silent.

Miss Maggie was shocked and distressed. She was also very much puzzled. She had supposed that Mr. Smith understood that Mellicent and young Gray cared for each other, and she had thought that Mr. Smith even approved of the affair between them. Now, to push himself on the scene in this absurd fashion, and try "to cut every body out," as it was vulgarly termed—she never would have believed it of Mr. Smith in the world. And she was disappointed, too. She liked Mr. Smith very much. She had considered him to be a man of good sense and good judgment. And had he not himself said, not so long ago, that he believed lovers should be of the same age, tastes and habits? And yet, here now he was—

And there could be no mistake about it. Everybody was saying the same thing. The Martin girls brought it home as current gossip. Jade was highly exercised over it, and even Harriett had exclaimed over the "shameful flirtation Mellicent was carrying on with that man old enough to be her father!" No, there was no mistake. Besides, did she not see with her own eyes that Mr. Smith was gone every day and evening, and that, when he was at home at meal-time, he was silent and preoccupied, and not like himself at all?

And it was such a pity—she had thought so much of Mr. Smith! It really made her feel quite ill.

And Miss Maggie looked ill on the last evening of that holiday week when, at nine o'clock, Mr. Smith found her sitting idle-handed before the stove in the livingroom.

"Why, Miss Maggie, what's the matter with you?" cried the man, in very evident concern. "You don't look like yourself to-night!"

Miss Maggie pulled herself up hastily.

"Nonsense! I—I'm perfectly well. I'm just—tired, I guess. You're home early, Mr. Smith." In spite of herself Miss Maggie's voice carried a tinge of something not quite pleasant.

Mr. Smith, however, did not appear to notice it.

"Yes, I'm home early for once, thank Heaven!" he half groaned, as he dropped himself into a chair.

"It has been a strenuous week for you, hasn't it?" Again the tinge of something not quite pleasant in Miss Maggie's voice.

"Yes, but it's been worth it."

"Of course!"

Mr. Smith turned deliberately and looked at Miss Maggie. There was a vague questioning in his eyes. Obtaining, apparently, however, no satisfactory answer from Miss Maggie's placid countenance, he turned away and began speaking again.

"Well, anyway, I've accomplished what I set out to do."

"You—you've already accomplished it?" faltered Miss Maggie. She was gazing at him now with startled, half-frightened eyes.

"Yes. Why, Miss Maggie, what's the matter? What makes you look so—so queer?"

"Queer? Nonsense! Why, nothing—nothing at all," laughed Miss Maggie nervously, but very gayly. "I may have been a little—surprised, for a moment; but I'm very glad—very."

"Glad?"

"Why, yes, for—for you. Isn't one always glad when—when a love affair is—is all settled?"

"Oh, then you suspect it." Mr. Smith smiled pleasantly, but without embarrassment. "It doesn't matter, of course, only—well, I had hoped it wasn't too conspicuous."

"Oh but you couldn't expect to hide a thing like that Mr. Smith" retorted Miss Maggie, with what was very evidently intended for an arch smile. "I heard it everywhere—everywhere."

"The mischief you did!" frowned Mr. Smith, looking slightly annoyed. "Well, I suppose I couldn't expect to keep a thing like that entirely in the dark. Still, I don't believe the parties themselves—quite understood. Of course, Pennock and Gaylord knew that they were kept effectually away; but I don't believe they realized just how systematically it was done. Of course, Gray understood from the first."

"Poor Mr. Gray! I—I can't help being sorry for him."

"Sorry for him!"

"Certainly; and I should think you might give him a little sympathy," rejoined Miss Maggie spiritedly. "You know how much he cared for Mellicent."

Mr. Smith sat suddenly erect in his chair.

"Cared for her! Sympathy! Why, what in the world are you talking about? Wasn't I doing the best I could for them all the time? Of course, it kept him away from her, too, just as it did Pennock and Gaylord; but he understood. Besides, he had her part of the time. I let him in whenever it was possible."

"Let him in!" Miss Maggie was sitting erect now. "Whatever in the world are you talking about? Do you mean to say you were doing this for Mr. Gray, all the time?"

"Why, of course! Whom else should I do it for? You didn't suppose it was for Pennock or Gaylord, did you? Nor for—" He stopped short and stared at Miss Maggie in growing amazement and dismay. "You didn't—you didn't think—I was doing hat—for myself?"

"Well, of course, I—I—" Miss Maggie was laughing and blushing painfully, but there was a new light in her eyes. "Well, anyway, everybody said you were!" she defended herself stoutly.

"Oh, good Heavens!" Mr. Smith leaped to his feet and thrust his hands into his pockets, as he took a nervous turn about the room. "For myself, indeed! as if my position, I'd— How perfectly absurd!" He wheeled and faced her irritably. "And you believed that? Why, I'm not a marrying man. I don't like—I never saw the woman yet that I—" With his eyes on Miss Maggie's flushed, half-averted face, he stopped again abruptly. "Well, I'll be —" Even under his breath he did not finish his sentence; but, with a new, quite different expression on his face, he resumed his nervous pacing of the room, throwing now and then a quick glance at Miss Maggie's still averted face.

"It was absurd, of course, wasn't it?" Miss Maggie stirred and spoke lightly, with the obvious intention of putting matters back into usual conditions again. "But, come, tell me, just what did you do, and how? I'm so interested—indeed, I am!"

"Eh? What?" Mr. Smith spoke as if he was thinking of something else entirely. "Oh—that." Mr. Smith sat down but he did not go on speaking at once. His eyes frowningly regarded the stove.

"You said—you kept Pennock and Gaylord away," Miss Maggie hopefully reminded him.

"Er—yes. Oh, it—it was really very simple—I just monopolized Mellicent myself, when I couldn't let Donald have her. That's all. I saw very soon that she couldn't cope with her mother alone. And Gaylord—well, I've no use for that young gentleman."

"But you like Donald?"

"Very much. I've been looking him up for some time. He's all right."

"I'm glad."

"Yes." Mr. Smith spoke abstractedly, without enthusiasm. Plainly Mr. Smith was still thinking of something else.

Miss Maggie asked other questions —Miss Maggie was manifestly interested—and Mr. Smith answered them, but still without enthusiasm. Very soon he said good-night and went to his own room.

For some days after this, Mr. Smith did not appear at all like himself. He seemed abstracted and puzzled. Miss Maggie, who still felt self-conscious and embarrassed over her misconception of his attentions to Mellicent, was more talkative than usual in her nervous attempt to appear perfectly natural. The fact that she often found his eyes fixed thoughtfully upon her, and felt them following her as she moved about the room, did not tend to make her more at ease. At such times she talked faster than ever—usually, if possible, about some member of the Blaisdell family; Miss Maggie had learned that Mr. Smith was always interested in any bit of news about the Blaisdells.

It was on such an occasion that she told him about Miss Flora and the new house.

"I don't know, really, what I am going to do with her," she said. "I wonder if perhaps you could help me."

"Help you?—about Miss Flora?"

"Yes. Can you think of any way to make her contented?"

"Contented! Why, I thought—Don't tell me she isn't happy!" There was a curious note of almost despair in Mr. Smith's voice. "Hasn't she a new house, and everything nice to go with it?"

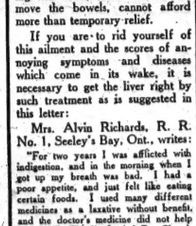

Miss Maggie laughed. Then she sighed.

Fox Hunt In a Drawing-Room

A remarkable incident occurred during a meet of hounds in the Rhondda Valley. A fox pursued by hounds ran into the house of a colliery manager on the mountain side, and sought refuge in the drawing-room. The hounds followed, and a fierce fight ensued, during which much damage was done to the furniture before the fox was killed.

Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seeley's Bay, Ont., writes: "For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

New Jersey Bans Poppy

Horticultural Board Says Blooms Are A Nuisance

New Jersey's blood-red poppies will not see another spring. The federal horticultural board has ordered the blooms with their sentimental associations of the late war destroyed on the ground that they are a nuisance. So fleeting is romance.

The Jersey poppies were brought over from France by troop ships returning from overseas in the early days after the war, and were planted amid tender recollections of the poppy-spread fields of France and Flanders. Horticulturists even then warned against doing this. The poppies, they said, would soon become a floral nuisance, over-running fields and farms and doing incalculable harm to other flowers and vegetation.

The experts were right, it seems. The halo that was thrown about the poppy after Colonel McRae's fine poem, "In Flanders Fields," began to ring about the world was purely a sentimental affair. Now not only does the action taken in New Jersey show the tpractical common sense to wins out again over sentiment, but it is evidence once more that the is over.—Buffalo Commercial.

Clear Eyed Balfour

Sees No Peace Unless Britain and United States Stand Together

Mr. Balfour, with his ripe statesmanship, look to the big thing, and disregards details. He sees there can be no peace or ordered liberty throughout the world if Great Britain and the United States are apart. Other nations can be helpful in achieving this great end, but sympathetic relations between the White House and Downing Street are an essential. Who will challenge the truth of this? And, who, admitting it, will be blind to its implications? Those who would separate those who speak the same tongue and who have been brought together by great events may justly, perhaps, lay claim to many merits, but they may not claim that in any true sense they are friends of world peace—New York Tribune.

A Brilliant Interpreter

Frenchman at Washington Conference Is Proficient In English

Camerlynck, the brilliant French interpreter, utterly amazes visitors to the Arms Conference at Washington, and is always the source of the greatest admiration among those who have to depend upon him to follow the proceedings when English is not spoken. At the time the French Premier, M. Briand made his address before the conference, he had hardly taken his seat before M. Camerlynck was on his feet interpreting his address in English. He did not falter and was never at a loss for a word in English to convey the exact meaning which M. Briand desired. But he went even farther than this. He put into his voice the same tone and feeling and used virtually the same gestures as the Premier.

Beekeeping In Saskatchewan

Grenfell Man Gets 1000 Pounds of Honey From 13 Hives

John Hubbard, of the Grenfell district, reports a successful year at his apiary. From 13 two-frame nuclei started out in June, almost 1,000 lbs. of first-class honey were obtained, besides which the bees built up and increased to 17 strong colonies. While this is a new industry in Saskatchewan. Mr. Hubbard started keeping bees in 1917, and after four years' experience, he is quite enthusiastic over the possibilities of beekeeping, especially in the wooded sections of the country.

Thrilling accounts of the latest attempt to scale Mount Everest were given by members of the expedition, speaking in Queen's Hall, London. They were dubious of the possibility of their reaching the summit, but believed constant attempts would eventually meet with success.

Want Queen Mary Admitted to Bar

Templars Suggest Her Majesty Be First Englishwoman Called

The interesting suggestion is being bruited about in the Temple that the honor of being the first woman to be "called" to the English Bar should be proffered to the Queen. The advocates of this course urge that the historic occasion on which a woman for the first time is admitted to the English Bar would be observed in the most fitting manner if the Queen would consent to stand as the pioneer in this great advance opened to the highest capacities of educated women.

In the ordinary course some of the successful women students for the Bar will be "called" next year. The suggestion is that the Queen should be asked to accept "call" first—that is, during a legal term before that in which the ordinary "call" will begin.

The Prince of Wales is a member of the Middle Temple, as was the late King Edward, and as the Middle Temple was the Inn most closely associated with the movement to open the Bar to women, it is urged that the Benchers should avail themselves of an opportunity which will become historic in the annals of the country.

Two young women have already been admitted to the Bar in Ireland.

Angus Men In Parliament

Expected That Elected Representatives Will Help Livestock Industry

Mr. Harry Leader, of Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, who defeated Premier Meighen on the Progressive ticket, has been a prominent member of the Canadian Aberdeen Angus Association and a leading breeder of Aberdeen Angus cattle. In the Dauphin constituency Mr. J. W. Ward, the successful Progressive candidate, is also a leading Aberdeen Angus breeder in his own territory. Both men will go to the Federal House of Parliament with a full understanding of the needs of agriculture and animal industry in the west. While it is not expected that they should in any sense be the special representatives of the Angus breed in parliament, they can with the help and assistance of other prominent breeders of the different breeds of livestock, who have been elected as Progressives, Liberals and Conservatives, do a great deal for the livestock industry in general when questions of fiscal policy or foreign markets are being discussed.

Startling Growth in Debt of France

Has Increased 150 Billion Francs Since Close of War

France's debt has increased 150,000,000 francs since the war. This startling fact was revealed by the report on the budget for 1922.

On Dec. 31, 1918, the debt was 171,000,000,000 francs. Now it is 328,000,000,000 without counting the billions of defence bonds. The difference between the figures includes 52,000,000,000 for pensions and reconstruction. The remainder is entirely due to budget deficits, which are larger each year.

The report warns that unless the policy of domestic loans is abolished the entire taxable potentialities of France will in a few years be taken up in paying interest.

A Death Trap

A pool of asphalt about 500 feet in diameter exists six miles east of Los Angeles, California, which comprises a great field for the natural history student. The place is a veritable trap set by nature to catch all kinds of luckless animals. A foot once caught in it, all struggles to escape are hopeless. The result is that the pool is filled with the remains of animals of all ages, and some surprising discoveries have been made among the specimens brought to light.

Newspapers Have Changed

Newspapers have moved away from political domination, and it is a safe guess they will never move back. They are willing to espouse political principles, but they will at the same time present various angles and views on the same subject. It is hard to find a paper any place now that preaches politics to the liking of a machine politician.—London Advertiser.

Ozone in Sea Air

"Concentrated Oxygen" Is Too Strong For Some People

The seaside air does us good because of the ozone in it.

Ozone purifies our lungs. We need it to put us back into "working order."

In other words, we require an attack of poison gas to make us fit—for pure ozone is a gas of deadly poison. But it doesn't injure us because of the fact that there is never very much of it in the air.

Some persons cannot stand the sea air at all. It is too "strong" for them, and they are on the sick list during their stay at the seaside. This is because they cannot stand the ozone, says Pearson's Weekly (London).

Ozone is concentrated oxygen. You get a whiff of ozone after a thunderstorm owing to the electric discharges through the oxygen of the air. Sea air is richer in ozone than is country air, for ozone is generated largely by the vibration of the waves.

Seaside air has just sufficient ozone gently to irritate the lungs. This quickens the flow of the blood. Thus the poisons in the ozone are really tonics.

An Important Dish

Peacock Pie Served In Olden Times At Banquets

The peacock was anciently in great demand for stately entertainments. Sometimes it was made into a pie, at one end of which the head appeared above the crust in all its plumage with the beak richly gilt; at the other end the tail was displayed. Such pies were served up at the solemn banquets of chivalry, when knights errant pledged themselves to undertake any perilous enterprise; whence came the ancient oath, used by Justice Shallow, "by cock and pie."

The peacock was also an important dish for the Christmas feast; and Massinger, in his "City Madam," gives some idea of the extravagance with which this, as well as other dishes, was prepared for the gorgeous revel of the olden times.

"YOUR TEETH"

TOOTHACHE

By REA PROCTOR McGEE, D.D.S., M.D., Editor of "Oral Hygiene".

It is true that those who have the greatest dread of having their teeth worked upon are the ones who are the greatest sufferers from toothache.

The Primitive laws of man were all based upon "Taboo," or as we call it, "luck."

The things that people did that always resulted in pain or trouble were forbidden or tabooed. At first, every violation of the taboo brought its own punishment. For instance, if the tribe lived in a cave and at one dark spot a rock protruded so that a man would bump his head if he walked there, the medicine man declared that path tabooed and all who broke the taboo bumped their heads and suffered. When laws became more complicated the natural penalty did not always work, and so penalties had to be provided to make the taboo good. We work under this system now in most of our laws, but the teeth still carry their own penalties.

If you neglect your teeth you will surely get the penalty without a judge or a jury.

A tooth aches for two general reasons: First, if the pulp is exposed it becomes inflamed and causes intense sharp pain from the actual irritation of the nerve. In this kind of toothache the pain is entirely from within the tooth.

When the pulp is dead there can be no pain within the tooth; the pain is all due to the infection and gas pressure in the bone surrounding the end of the tooth.

It is this kind of an inflamation that is a danger to your general health It is from that you have a point or focus where poison may, enter the blood stream.

Model Village In Somaliland

Cousin of Italy's King Has Made Improvements For Natives

The Duke of the Abruzzi, cousin of the King of Italy, Polar explorer, mountain climber and distinguished naval officer, has achieved fame in a new direction. He has come to be regarded as a god of and by the natives of Italian Somaliland, in which African colony he is taking a profound interest. He built a model village in the Benadir region, with everything for their comfort and improvement, including schools, a hospital and a library. The Somalis, who treat him with the greatest veneration and affection, have asked that the settlement be called the Duke of the Abruzzi Village.

After raising 24,000,000 lire a year ago for the development of Somaliland he went out there to disburse it and lately went home to Italy for more material and supplies for railway building and the promoting of agriculture.

An Old Agriculturist

Englishman Worked In Fields Until After He Was 130

An extraordinary instance of longevity is that concerning an agriculturist, named Thomas Parr, born in Shropshire, England, in 1483. He was engaged in agricultural pursuits and worked in the fields till after his one hundred and thirtieth birthday. At 120, according to authentic records, he married a second time and became the father of a family. At 152 he was introduced to the court of Charles I. by the Earl of Arundel as a remarkable prodigy, but the change of air and mode of living caused his death. A post mortem examination of his body was made, but no internal symptoms of decay could be discovered. A grandson of Thomas Parr died in Shropshire at the age of 120.

Civilization Bad For Eskimo

Traveller Predicts that Eskimo Tribes Will Soon Be Extinct

Members of the Eskimo tribes, who total upwards of 5,000 persons, will be extinct during the lifetime of people now living, according to a prophecy made in Toronto by S. Sainsbury, who spent ten years in the Arctic regions of Baffin's Land and Hudson's Bay. He declared the effect of civilization on the Eskimo was appalling, their health and stamina breaking down completely. The chief cause of their physical deterioration is the introduction of scivilized foods, white flour being particularly disastrous in its effects.

Valuable Clay In Alberta

Suitable for Manufacturing Brick and Tile Drain

The story of a pronounced disability disclosing itself as a valuable asset comes from the Smoky River country along the line of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia railway. Engineers of the road had ceaseless trouble in maintaining the approach to the crossing of the river owing to the continual sliding of the clays of which the banks are composed. Now it appears after examination that these clays, of which there is an enormous quantity, are valuable for the manufacture of brick and tile drain, and may in time give birth to an industry, the traffic of which should compensate the railroad for some of the trouble it has experienced.

KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are so changeable—one bright, the next cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Calgary Has Dahlia Show

Some of Blooms Entered Measured Eight Inches In Diameter

Calgary gardeners have demonstrated that the pessimistic prophets of twenty years ago were lacking in vision in respect to certain flowers, such as dahlias. The first dahlia show has just been held in the city and nearly 2,000 blooms were entered. Some of these were from six to eight inches in diameter and the hues were particularly vivid and gorgeous.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR JANUARY

ELIJAH THE TISHBITE

I. Elijah's Message to Ahab (v. 1).

This was a startling message, for Ahab had not only led Israel into idolatry, but into a repudiation of the living God.

1. "As the Lord God of Israel liveth." Elijah knew the source of the message. He knew that he represented the living God, therefore had no fear to come into the presence of the king in His name.

2. "Before whom I stand." Because Elijah stood before God, he could stand before Ahab. His "standing" before God indicates his constant readiness to go on His errands.

3. "There shall not be dew nor rain these years but according to my word." This suspension of moisture continued for three and a half years (Jas. 5:17), and was given in answer to Elijah's prayer (Jas. 5:17). Drouth was predicted as the punishment for idolatry (Deut. 11: 16, 17), and the prophet was now applying the divine judgment.

II. Elijah's Retirement ((vv. 2-16).

As soon as he had delivered his message he retired from the king's sight, while the penalty of the king's sin should be visited upon the land. When the famine was sore in the land, the king sought east and west, north and south for Elijah, but God had concealed him. Those who speak God's message frequently seek solitude when the message is delivered.

1. By the brook Cherith ((vv. 2-7).

(1) Drinking of the brook (vv. 4-6). While drinking of the literal waters of the brook, he was being nourished by the Living Waters from the throne of God. From day to day Elijah's faith was tested as he saw the stream run lower and lower as the drouth continued. (2) Fed by the ravens (vv. 4-6). The ravens brought him bread and fish in the morning and bread and flesh in the evening. Elijah thus enjoyed two meals each day, with water to drink. The same God who sustained Elijah, still lives, and we should trust Him for our daily bread. At last the brook dried up because there was no rain in the land. The Lord then instructed him to move.

2. At Zarephath (vv. 8-16). (1) The place (v. 9). Zarephath was at the west side of Palestine, near the Mediterranean Sea, in Gentile territory. In order to reach this place Elijah had to cross the country from the Jordan to the sea. Zarephath was only a few miles from the home of Jezebel's father. This, no doubt, was a trial to Elijah. (2) Sustained by a widow (vv. 10-12). "Bring a little water and a morsel of bread." Was the request which he made of the widow. This, no doubt, was a great trial to her, but God had touched her heart and stirred up faith in her. Her reply revealed deep distress. (3) Elijah's reply (v. 13). This made plain to her that it was a case of mutual interest to do as the Prophet said. "The barrel of meal shall not waste; neither shall the cruse of oil fail." (4) The widow's obedience (v. 15). "She did according to the sayings of Elijah, and she and her house did eat many days." (5) God keeps His word (v. 16). May we learn from this lesson:

1. The particularity of God's providence. Truly a sparrow shall not fall to the ground without our Father. By the pre-arrangements of God all our needs are daily met. There is no happen so in God's providence. The woman of Zarephath, going out to gather sticks to prepare the last meal, met Elijah, and is helped for two years.

2. No matter how small our resources, we can do something for God if we will. The lad with the five barley loaves and the two small fishes, with the blessing of the Lord, did a great work.

3. Our concern should be to work for others and for God before ourselves. We should give our all to God and trust Him for further supply.

4. God often allows us to get down to our very last in order to teach us that all is from Him.

5. God's dealing with this Gentile woman is a foreglean of His dealing with the Gentile nations.

Most Hated Man In American Army

"Hardboiled" Smith Now a Colonel In Mexican Forces

Lieutenant Frank H. (Hardboiled) Smith, whose brutal treatment of A.E.F. prisoners at prison farm No. 2 at Chelles, France, finally landed him in military prison at Fort Jay, Governor's Island, New York, for a short term, now is a colonel in President Obregon's army in Mexico.

Closely following this information word reached New York that Smith had dropped out of sight in this country and army officials, to whom he was supposed to report during his parole from prison have no trace of him. Inquiry developed the fact that Smith was paroled from Fort Jay before the expiration of his sentence in the face of evidence before a congressional inquiry branding him as "the most thoroughly hated man in the A.E.F." Smith's whereabouts was learned, it was said, from a former officer.

Marketing Seriously

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert In All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

Have you ever taken marketing seriously? Of course every woman who keeps house has to buy provisions. But too many women run into the nearest store at the last moment and buy anything at all for the meal. This is the most expensive way of doing one's marketing.

Much time and labor and anxiety are saved if the meals are planned on paper for at least a few days ahead. Then one knows just what shall be needed. Potatoes, rice, winter vegetables, canned goods and things that do not spoil easily may be purchased at one time and then set aside. Fish when it is fresh spoils easily and it is best to shop for this at the last moment or if it is purchased in advance, it must be covered with sufficient cracked ice to keep it.

But in marketing for anything it is best to go to the store yourself. Select for yourself the article you desire to purchase and inquire its price. Allow yourself sufficient time to visit other stores and inquire the price of a similar article. It is only by careful comparison of quality and weight or measure and price that we may know which shop is really the cheaper.

You are entitled to all the trimmings of the piece of meat you buy. The butcher trims off these and unless removes the bone and throws them into a box under the counter. These are sold to someone else. Even a small amount of trimmings and a bone will be enough for the basis of a soup for two.

Hand to mouth living or buying is to be deplored. Unfortunately, some must live this way. But many who run accounts might do much better if they made an effort to get together two or three dollars in cash and then shopped where the very most can be gotten for the money.

Whenever possible, buy in bulk, and not in fancy packages. Food that is wrapped in attractive looking packages must of necessity cost more. Buy by the pound—that is, loose—in bulk anything which must be cooked before being eaten. This includes the cereals, the dried fruits and many other articles of the diet. It is perhaps better to choose foods in packages if they are to be eaten without further cooking. An example of this type of food is the cracker or cookie.

Study your bills, for every careful housewife sees to it that she gets a bill with each purchase, or at least she writes down what she purchases and how much it costs. Careful marketing will reduce bills anywhere from ten to twenty per cent. in a given time. And such a saving is decidedly worth while.

The Effect of Fear

Armenian Children Afflicted With Forms of Heart Disease

According to Dr. Mabel Elliott, head of the American Woman's Hospitals, who is now serving with the Near East Relief at Ismid, Turkey, a large number of the Armenian children under her care are suffering from enlarged hearts or other forms of heart disease, due to the constant fear to which they have been prey during the past few years.

Relief workers in the Near East have long been familiar with the mental petrification due to the terrible experience through which these children have passed, most of them having forgotten everything of their past, their names, their homes and their language included, but this is the first instance that has been recorded of the effect of fear on their hearts.

The cure which Dr. Elliott is practising is a combination of mental and physical. First of all they are made to realize that they are entirely out of danger and among friends. Then they are put on a special diet of nourishing food and certain exercises are prescribed. The results so far have been remarkably successful.

Canadian Forest Tree Seeds

A Hopeful Sign In Regard to Forest Conservation

During the season of 1920, the work of collecting the cones of coniferous trees for reforestation purposes went on in practically all the provinces. The work was, perhaps, most vigorously pressed in the west where the Dominion Forestry Branch collects seed for its own forest nurseries and for the Forestry Commission of Great Britain, but, to a greater or less extent, it was done in all the provinces, either by government or private individuals. This is a hopeful sign in regard to forest conservation.

MANY CHILDREN SICK HOW TO TREAT THEM

The kiddies will get their feet wet, catch cold, get croup and give their mothers lots of trouble. With the first cough or sneeze, rub the little one's chest with Nerviline, rub it on plentifully. It can't harm. Then make a gargle with Nerviline and water, and have the child gargle for five minutes. Just at bed time, give the child ten drops of Nerviline in hot sweetened water. The result is fine, and next morning child is better. Nerviline is a great protection in the home. Large 35c bottles at all dealers.

Aeroplane Stunts Are Barred

A New Clause Is Added to the Air Regulations

Acrobatic tricks, involving entering or leaving an aeroplane while in flight, are barred out under a new clause which has been added to the air regulations. The clause reads as follows:

"No person shall enter or attempt to enter any aircraft in flight; or leave or attempt to leave any aircraft in flight, except for the purpose of making a parachute descent; or give upon any aircraft in flight any gymnastic or other like exhibition."

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

Spider's Web is Marvel of Strength

No Rope For Its Size Is Nearly As Strong

The web of the spider is a marvel of strength. No rope that man can make is, for its size, anything like as strong as the spider's web. The smallest rope that will bear the weight of a man is an inch in circumference, or one-third of an inch in thickness. To equal the spider's average daily performance a man six feet tall would have to carry about a half of mile of one inch rope, which would be a physical impossibility.

Wrap of Black Duvetyn And Hudson Seal

By Marie Belmont

A coat which can adapt itself to varied occasions is a very desirable one to possess. This versatility of use finds expression here in black duvetyn trimmed in Hudson seal.

The wrap is built on loose lines, this effect being carried out in the single button fastening and the dropped shoulder seams. The chin collar is becoming and gives additional warmth. The finishing band of fur at the hemline is attractive for a person of sufficient height, but should be avoided by one of very short stature.

This coat is attractive over afternoon frocks of black or color, and can also be used for evening wear.

Worms in children work havoc These pests attack the tender lining of the intestines and, if left to pursue their ravages undisturbed, will ultimately perforate the wall, because these worms are of the hook variety that cling to and feed upon the interior surfaces. Miller's Worm Powders will not only exterminate these worms, of whatever variety, but will serve to repair the injury they have done.

Elevator Destroyed

Was Loaded to the Roof With Grain and Flour

The 35,000 bushel elevator of Northern Elevator Company at Orcadia, first siding west of Yorkton, Sask., took fire and was totally destroyed. It was full to the roof with grain and considerable supplies of flour in an adjoining warehouse were also destroyed.

One railway car was burned, but a long string was saved by prompt action of a through freight crew, which pulled them to safety.

Compensation

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right out with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

THIN, FLAT HAIR GROWS LONG, THICK AND ABUNDANT

"Danderine" costs only 35 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.

Will your "Good Morning" last all day?

Easy to start from the breakfast table with zest and enthusiasm, but how easy is it to keep on? Does ambition last, or lag, as the day develops?

The afternoon "slump" is a factor to be counted upon, in business or social life.

Usually, there's a reason.

Nerves whipped by tea or coffee won't keep on running, and they won't stand constant whipping.

Many a man or woman who has wished the afternoon would be as bright as the morning has simply been wishing that the nerves wouldn't have to pay the natural penalty for being whipped with the caffeine drug.

Postum gives a breakfast cup of comfort and cheer, without any penalties afterward. There's no "letting down" from Postum—no midday drowsiness to make up for midnight wakefulness; no headaches; no nervous indigestion; no increase of blood pressure.

Think it over. There's full satisfaction in Postum—a cup of comfort for anybody (the children included), any time.

You can get Postum from your grocer or your waiter today, and probably you'll begin to have better tomorrows, as so many thousands have had, who have made the change from tea and coffee to Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.
